THEATRICAL COMPANY WIPED OUT.

Calcutta, Dec. 28, 11.40 a.m. News has been received of an appalling dis aster, due to the collision of two passenger trains on the North-West Railway." It is re poned that 500 have been killed and injured including several Europeans. An entite thea trical purty, was killed including several wellknown artistes belonging to the Wallace Riley Theatrical Company. The cause of the accident is attributed to the neglect of a pater assistant stationmaster, in the non-observance of the strict rules governing the working of the "line clear" system, who has since disappeated. The passengers were asleep when the accident occurred and the bodies of many are being extricated in a state of pulp baffling identification. Several school children are believed to have been killed ... The accident occurred on Christmas morning. -- Special to Caplon Observer.

CASTAWAY SALLOKS.

on a desolate island for five months.

A thrilling story of suffering by a ship-wrecked crew was related by the second mate of the Norwegian baique Alexandra at Southampton on December 16.

He is a Scot named Morrison, and was accompanied by two Noiwegian seamen when he arrived at the Hants port on board the liner Orinoco which they joined at Colombo, after having spent five months on a deserted island in the Pacific.

Their barque was wrecked and abandoned on 8 May, the captain and one half of the crew taking one boat and the first mate and the other half of the crew another boat. Morrison and his two companions were in the captain's boat, which, after being lossed about for eleven days, reached Indefatigable Island. For two months the men lived on the juice of the cactua trees, turtles, and brackish water. une of their number, a German, disappeared and some time later his skull and bones were "found on the shore. While exploring the island the survivois found fresh water, and this discovery saved their lives.

In the meantime an Ecuador warship had been sent to look for the Alexandra, and discovered her a wreck on one of the islands.

Finding no signs of the crew it was presumed they had been lost, and the warship returned. A.cousin of the captain of the barque, however, who was living in equique, raised funds, obtained a sloop, and set out in search of the crew. The ship was sighted by the men on the island. They signalled to the vessel, which took them off ulter over five months of suffering. and landed them in Guayaquil on 9 Nov.

Some of the crew went to New York, but the three who came to Southampton went to Colombo, where they joined the Orinoco During the voyage the men received the kindest treatment, and have now completely experience.

The ceremony was performed by judge Carroll Cook at his residence yesterday afternoon in the presence of a lew friends of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Filmer immediately left for the southern part of the State and their wedding tour will extend to England, where the groom is going on business for his com-

Captain Filmer first met his bride when he was first officer of the Hongking Maru and Miss Brand was a pastenger, That was eighteen months ago on an eastward run When the ship reached San Francisco the couple were engaged, but it was not until a week ago that they again met, the bride coming here from her Ohlo home to be married.

> PRESIDENT REVIEWS AMBRICAN FLEET.

START OF THE TALKED-OF PACIFIC CRUISE.

Old Point Comport (Virginia), Dec. 16. President Roosevelt reviewed, from the deck of the Mayflower, the departing battleship fleet. The day was fair and cool, with an eight-knot westelly breeze, as the Mayflower passed up Hampton Roads, and received the salutes of the 16 giant fighting ships. Bach white battleship was gaily dressed from jackstaff to flagpost with signal flags.

The Connecticut, flying the flag of Rear-Admiral Evans, was the first to salute the Presi dent. The other ships took up the firing, and in less than two minutes each of the 26 battleships bad thundered its 21 gun welcome. The Mayflower then entered the lane of warships and proceeded slowly through the haze of powder smoke to a point in the centre of the fleet, where she let go her auchors. Almost instantly Admiral Evans and his staff proceeded in the Connecticut's torpedo launch to the Mayflower's side and clambered on board, where President Roosevelt greated them heartily, and soon the launches of all the other ships swarmed around the Mayflower.

The following ships participated in the review and afterwards steamed away down the coast en foule for the Pacific : First Squadron : First division, Connecticut, Louisians, Kansas, and, Vermont. Second division, Georgia, Virginia,

New Jerrey, and Riode Island. Second Squidion: Third division, Minneapolis, Obio, Maine, and Missouri. Fourth division, Alabama, Illinois, Kearsarge, and Kenlucky. Auxiliaries of the fleet : Supply ships Glacier an Culgos, the repair ship Panther, and the tender Yankton.

The Mayflower weighted anchor at ten o'clock and led the way to the Horsesboe, where the review was to take place. Signals from the Connecticut's signal-yards ordered the fleet to get under way, and immediately the diessing-lines were hauled in and the anchor was weightd. The first squadron followed the Mayflower out of the harbour. Then came the second squadron, the forts saluting as the great fleet passed out. The President's yacht, together with the despatch boat I olphin, on which were many members of Congless and the foreign naval attachés, escorted by two torpedo boats, anchored at the place assigned for them; the President mounted the bridge of the Mayflower to review the fleet. At a quarter past elever the vessels, at intervals of 400 yards, passedthe yacht at full speed, with bands playing and the sailors and marine guards standing at attention. The President lifted his hat and cheered repeatedly. Each battleship in passing saluted the President-witheat guns .- Reuter.

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, JANUARY 17, 1908.

WHERE CHINESE LABOUR IS WELCOMED.

In referring a week ago to the probable course of exchange following the announce ment that the Government of Mexico had decided to re-open the mint for the purpose of increasing the dollar currency of the country, we took occasion to remark upon the enormous advance which was being made in Mexico in the development of that republic's resources. New railways are in course of construction throughout the interior, ordinary road communications are in process of formation, vast districts which have hitherto been considered almost inaccessible and have only attracted the attention of the hardiest pion ers, are being opened up to settlement, and mining prospectors are busily engaged in assaying the value of a country reputedly rich in mineral wealth which still remains untouched. For the moment we are not concerned with the financial stability of lows the fortunes of the country which has Mexico or the precise effect of the Govern. absorbed, and is still writing to absorb, so ment's action with regard to the augmentation | many of "China's millions," That the appreof the subsidiary coinage, except in so far as | ciation is deserved cannot be doubted, for the these reveal the miterial prosperity of the American has no great belief in the future of country and, in particular, the prospects of any country but his own, and he is certainly that labour which is so largely recruited not going out of his way to fling honeyed in the Chinese Empire. Mexico is to-day the phrases around at random. So that even if product of a supreme dictator, whose power for I there are paris of the world closed to the overgood or evil is, and has been for years, probably flow population of China, there is yet a vast and greater than that wielded by the Tsar of allthe Russias. If ever a military dictatorship that is a ked of them is their labour. was justified it has been justified in the case of Mexico. Good government has replaced incessant internecine strife. A debased currency has been standardised, so that its value is practically as stable as that of the States. Life and property are regarded with as to achieve a reputation among his own people much concern as in America or England. for wonderful descriptive powers and he has down to the youngest powder-monkey, who-The people are contented and prosperous, and obviously set his face steadfastly against any most wonderful of all, they have been led tendency to indulge in what might be conto recognise the importance of industry in the sidered pardonable high-falutin'; yet this little development of their country. In a fatitude which makes for enervation and among a people constitutionally averse to labour, the value of hard work as a national asset and an antidote to revolution has become a maxim not to be disputed. Hundreds and thousands of Chinese, " Bangkok, 30th Dec. 3rd Jan."-the beginning have fallen under the spell of the inducements of last year-there is the matter of fact stateoffered by the Mexican Government to Oriental labourers and still the labour market remains | but land was nowhere in sight." And that is unaffected. The plodding, industrious subjects | all we learn about the capital of Siam. Apof the Middle Kingdom have proved the salvation of Mexico. Their likes and dislikes have been given full consideration. They have had the opportunity of earning a competency, and full advantage has been taken that opportunity. Their welfgre has been regarded, and they have enjoyed all the benefits, which invariably attend an administration founded on the confidence of the people and the toleration las 'well as, in this case, the praise of foreign powers Were Mexico to relapse into the mire in which it wallowed before the advent of Diaz, the United States would be compelled by all the demands of public policy and international obligation to step into the turmoil and assume control of the country. But with Diaz at the CONSISTENT EXCELLENCE | helm, Mexico has become a model of efficient government which might well be a pattern for the entire group of Central and South American republics. The United States, which is most in timately interested in the affairs of her neighbour, makes he attempt to conceal her recognition of Mexico's progress. The newspapers, in deed, refer to the Government of Mexico i terms that might well cause the most conceited state to blush with pleasure. Take, for in stance, this extract from a San Francisco paper which is not given to bare-freed flattery: "Mexico is now governed most admirably." has by far the most effective government on this continent, Canada not excepted. Our own governments cannot be compared with it for effective protection of all honest men and the projection of society as a whole from its grasp ing or boodling elements. Under this government the country is prospering beyond precedent. The national credit is high, Peace and security reign. Lower Callfornia, hitherto almost without inhabitants but rich in resources, is to be connected with our own railway system, and it is said that in spite of the willingness of the Mexican Government to oblige us, the increase of settlement and commerce will soon make Magdalena bay impossible as a practice ground for naval gunnery. The Mexican who would dranything to check this great national prosperity by effectivg a change of government by any means other than the ballot is not only a traitor to his own country but to all civilized society. In years past Mexico suffered, even as Central America suffers now, from chron's revolutions which were merely personal organizations in the interest of some chief who wished to enrich himself by getting control of the public treasury. From that desperate situation that rich country has been rescued by President Diaz, and Mexico's greatest misfortune is the advancing age of that statesman. Whoever, would conspire to shorten his days, either of life or of power, could be no other than one of those pestilent anarchis's who are the mortal foest of good government and the public content which follows it everywhere, and whom society must wish to have dealt with as the Mexican Government deals with them when it cuiches them." The quotation is long, but there is not a word in it that would be missed by anyone who folprosperous country open to them, where all

THE "KING ALEKEDS" LOG.

No attempt has been, made by Chief Writer A. S. Q. Part, in his account of the doings of H.M.S. King Alfred on her first commission, brochure which details the trips and experiences of those on the King Alfred during her two years on the China Station is sure to be treasured by the author's messmates and should certainly attract the attention of all in-need not be specified, the Mexican Govern. I ample, the flagship was at Nagasaki in June. ment decided to countenance the im- 1906, and there are Mr. Part's comments : ment: "We were supposed to be at Bangkok parently the cruiser simply took a trip up the gulf and returned to Singapore sati fied with the experience. But although the brichure only runs to 16 pa cs. it teems with odd all servations, which would alead to endless desultory conversations. To begin at the beginning, we learn that as the King Alfred the first of h r name she had no glurious traditions to maintain, no battle-scars to cisplay, no tragedies to conceal. She is still free from records of war or misfortune, but she has established a record and a reputation that might well be the cavy of the Fleet. In July last, at Weihaiwei, she created a world's record at heavy gun layers' test by scoting 183 hits, of which it were built'eyes, out of 195 rounds, the conditions being more stringent than fornerly, while the target was of the new pattern Again in November List, at battle practice in Mus Bay, the target was blown to ribbons, The umpires estimated that out of 142 rounds tto hits were recorded, but as this decision was not considered conclusive the target was sent home to the Admiralty and the gunners of the King Alfred are still waiting for the decision. The big cruiser left Portsmouth for the China station on the 23rd January, 1906, and arrived at Hongkong on the 23rd April of the same year. A month later, the man-of-war was at 'Woosung, where $,000 were dropped ove board while being conveyed from a steamboat to the ship, "Our diversufter long search failed to recover them," says Mr. Part straightforwardly, "Divers with the primitive apparatus of a long tope and heavy stone, held their nostrils and dropped down, recovered the treasure in a short time, and got $275 cumshaw! for their services." In June the King Alfred was visiting Japan where the crew was " persecuted with young Japanese scholars siring their English." Examples are given, the best being; "Please give me some of your money for a curio." Mr. Part says succinctly; "We couldn't oblige, most of us had only just made out half pay." Of the sulphur baths near Hal odate we' learn-" Generally visited on horse back by those who can ride, but mestly by those who can't." A good many of the men did their first kick over the traces there. Recounting experience in Viadivo stok the writer observes: " "A nice place not to live in "-which ends discussionon that subject. At Port Lazarel, "Poor little Jim, the pet lamb, died aged 99 days. After a Mr. Hutstham's Repentance 💎 🤲 lingering illness succumbed to the violence of a common sheep who was ultimately converted into mutton." The sailors' epitaph: "Alas! poor little Jim!" Between 31st August and and September last, only one important event occurred and it is duly recorded in a line by itself. The King Alfred was at Imari at the time and the event was as follows: "Bankai boiles of beer served out." Not another word, not even a comment. The cruiser in October steamed from Nanking to Woosung, Mr. Medico's Wet sley 240 miles, in 12 hours. From Woosung to Hongkong there was a "passage trial," the result being an average of 24.36 knots for eight hours, while in the best hour 25.1 Mr. Rodcar's Finesse knots were covered -another record. Finally, the writer dwells on the "Admirat's Mr. Smith's Quicksilver laudatory and sincere expressions of pride in flying his flag on board the King Alfred," and expresses the hope that "we shall always be able to afford similar pleasure of duty to our officers with honour to our ships and credit to ourselves." There is little more to say unless we rob the account of every detail, but we leave some excellent reading for those who wish to read the account for themselves. Mr. Part has performed his - we will not say partbut self-imposed duty admirably. If every ship of the British Navy could show a record such as that produced by the King Alfred then we could all sleep peacefully at nights, no matter where we might be. And that record was not tarnished or stained in any one particular by a single member of a singularly happy crew, all of whom from the Admiral ever answers to that title, will be welcomed with open arms in Hongkong again. Little

SWEARING-IN CEREMONY AT THE MAGISTRACY

At the conclusion of his third term of fi years' service in the Police Force of Hongkong, first class Inspector Albert Collett was sworn in to day at the Magistracy for another period five years. The occasion, is not unusual the animis of the Police Department for he swearing in ceremony to take place at perio lical intervals. But the remarks which were addressed by the presiding Justice from the Bench on the present occasion, invest it with a special degree of interest to the members of the Force in general and to Inspector Collett in particular. After the usual oath had been prescribed, Mr. F. A. Hazel and, the Justice, remarked that he was pleased Mr. Collett, whose engagement expired to day, was not going to be l'at to the l'olice Force. He h ped he (Mr. Collett) would return to the Colony ulter his leave to England in May next; for an officer of Mr. Collett's experience was one the Police could illustfurd to lose. He hoped to see him back for the good of the Force.

Mr. Collett returned thanks to I is Worship, Mr. Collett anisted on the 19th December, 1891, as a constable, and became acting tergeant (temporary) in April, 1895. Three years | now which he was promoted to full sergeant, from which rank he role to a third-class is spectorship on 11th March, 1901, and successively second and third class inspectors in 1903, and 1905, respectively. For some time past he has been placed in sole charge of the most turbulent district in the Colony at the West end of the city and was largely responsible in prevent ing a riotous outbreak in the abortive strike of ricksha pullers the other day.

It was reported some time ago that a branch of the Imperial Bank in connection with the Tuchibpu (the Ministry of Finance) at Peking will be established at this port at the beginning of the coming year with Taotaj Lok as director of the institution. Taotai Lok, by order, proceeded to the capital a few months ago. to make final arrangements with the Tuchihpu for the establishment of the Bank. A despatch has now been received by the local authorities from the capital with instructions to select two local leading capable merchants well versed in matters of finance and of trustworthy character for appointments; one as assistant director and the other as imanager to assist Tactai Lok in his duties. There is to doubt now that this proposed bra ch bank will. be established without fall from the beginning of the coming year,

ST. STEPHEN'S COLLEGE. PRIZE-CIVING DAY,

In a little matched, tastefully decorated wit

bunting and evergreen, situated outside th College building, surrounded by a cluster o trees, the scholars of St. Stephen's College received their reward to-day for their arduous labour during the past year. And few, if no all, will have cause to remember this "red letter" day,

A large gathering had assembled in the shed to welcome Sir Frederick and Lad Lugard, who were accompanied by Captain H. M. Taylor, A.D.C., when they arrived Among others present were : , Bishop Lander Archdeacon Bannister, Rev. J. H. France Rev. and Mrs. Pearce, Rev. Bunbury, Mr. and Mrs. Piercy, Mr. and Mrs. Braidwood, Mr. Chau biu-ki, Dr. Saunders, Mr. Morriss and a number of ladies and Chinese gentlemen. The proceedings began with prayer, at the end of which the Bishop of Victoria addressed the gathering.

THE DISHOP'S DREAMS. Histop Lander said, in part, that his Excellency the Governor had not been long in th Colony before he had taken an interest in educational matters. Knowledge, he said, was power and education more than knowledge, and was to Jay that foundation that the College was built. Speaking on behalf of the College he congratulated himself at the presence of their Excellencies and they appreciated the kindness of their going there to-day. The College was also to be congratulated on the array of prizes received, and on those who ha earned them also. He had been dreaming and in his dream he saw a big building. Sure ly such a college as St. Stephen's required a more spacious building than the one at present and he hoped in time they would get it. The had the lind, and all they wanted was the money new. He' also saw in his dream that they had been affiliated with some un versity in England and he hoped that the dream would be realized, as there were great times in front of St. Stephen's College. He then called upon his Excellency to address a few remarks to the assembly.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH. His Excellency said that it was a pleasant task which devolved on a governor to present prizes to scholars and to congratulate the masvers on their arduous task during the year. Each institution, he said, had a particular interest of its own and he thought there was no other like-St." Stephen's College;---(Ap-lause); It was founded for the sons of Chinese well staffed with masters, both European and Chinese, and had a good number of scholars, leading positions among the teachers, and (Applause). MARRIED A FULL CENTURY.

Diam and weddings are sare ladeed (wrole Vienna correspondent on November 3), yet there has just been celebrated in the little village of leopho'el the anniversary of a wedding which is said to bave occurred pat too years ago. All Hungary is intensely interested. and the Emperor has asked the authorities to forward to him official particulars so that he can personally congcustate the couple. The extraoral navy pair are named by thoughout he hasbandle 120 years obl. and the wile 16. He was a farmer and was married at the age of 20. They have hundreds of descendants in and around the village. A score of years ago there was a celebration in honour of the man's hundredib birthday, and application was made to the Hunkarian Government for a pension. It was granted afer the records of the village had been examined and the man's age verified. Four years. later the woman was also granted a penvion. The old couple live in a modest cottage, and are well looked after by relatives. They are nearly blind and very deaf, and sleep nearly all [88] the time. Tooman, however, still enjoyshis pipe and a glass of wine, and neither is bedridden. In all their years they have never left the village, and know nothing of the great world outside of Isonbolgi. They were both born there. and have lived continuously in wedlock a quiet and pasceful life. The celebration of their hundredth wedding day was participated in by he entire village, which is very proud of baying established, without any doubt, a world's record.

AN BLEFHANT BUEL.

VICTOR'S FATE IN THE BALANCE.

New York, December 2. Bostock's great ntenagerie, now exhibiting at Atlanta, Georgia, was yesterday the acens of a remarkable and terrilying incident. The elephants in the show include one buge and somewhat evil-tempered beast answering to the name of Roger, who has lately been quartered with Lil, a female of the species. Although Roger has occasionally given trouble to the attendants, he and his companion always appeared to get on well together. Yesterday, however, when feeding time came: round, Lil attempted to take more of the hay that comprised the chief item in the menu than fell to her rightful share, an action which her lord much resented. He showed his resentment by trump ting loudly and giving battle and in a moment the two great beasts were engaged in a terrible struggle. Attendants hurried up from all parts of the menageric, but the separation of the combatants was too dangerous a tank to be attemptel. All they could do was to wait, a suitable opportunity, and to watch the progress of the battle royal, which was proceeding on a raised platform in the arena Gradually It was soon that Roger was gaining the mastery, and the watchers prepared to intervene. Before they could do so, however the victor gathered his powers together for a great effort, and literally hurled the female, elephant clear off the platform. The unwieldy animal fell heavily on her side, and when the keepers came up it was seen that she was dying. Roger, now quite calm and seemingly repentant, was led off in chains, and will probably
